I. Description of a Qualified Evaluator

The Board will accept evaluations from qualified evaluators. A qualified evaluator cannot be the spouse of the candidate nor related to the candidate by blood or marriage. The evaluator must have sufficient experience to be considered qualified to evaluate the existence of and proposed accommodations needed for specific learning disabilities. Guidelines for a qualified evaluator are listed below:

- (a) For purposes of physical or mental disabilities, not including learning disabilities, the evaluator is a licensed physician or psychologist with expertise in the area of the disability.
- (b) In the case of learning disabilities, a qualified evaluator is one of the following:

A licensed psychologist or physician who has experience working with adults with learning disabilities and who has training in all of the areas described below another professional who possesses a master's or doctorate degree in the category of disability, special education, education, psychology, educational psychology, or rehabilitation counseling and who has training and experience in all of the areas described below:

OR

- Assessing intellectual ability level and interpreting tests of such ability.
- Screening for cultural, emotional and motivational factors.
- Assessing achievement level.
- Administering tests to measure attention and concentration, memory, language reception and expression, cognition, reading, spelling, writing and mathematics.

II. Format of Examination

The examination contains objective multiple-choice questions which are administered by computer in an adaptive format. The examination does not require knowledge of computer operation, as only two computer keys are needed to take the examination. The number of questions may vary from a minimum of 75 to a maximum of 265. Standard testing time is a maximum of five hours. Standard break times are a mandatory 10-minute break after 2 hours of testing and an optional 10-minute break after 3-1/2 hours of testing. The examination is administered at Prometric Testing Centers which have up to 15 individual computer workstations.
